FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Four new volunteer consultants join Executive Service Corps of Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, OH, April 29, 2014 – Pat Seuberling; James R. Berry, PHR; Joe Lanzillotta and Dave Bazler have joined Executive Service Corps of Cincinnati (ESCC) as volunteer consultants. ESCC is a nonprofit organization that provides full management consulting services to other nonprofit organizations in the Greater Cincinnati/Northern Kentucky area.

Pat Seuberling has an accomplished and extensive 20+ year career in nonprofit management in both a paid and volunteer capacity. Most recently she was Executive Director for the Wyoming School Foundation. Prior to that, she served as Development Director for Women Helping Women. Pat was previously Development Director for Children’s Home of Northern Kentucky. She also held positions with Oldenburg Academy of the Immaculate Conception (Development Director), Big Brothers/Big Sisters Association of Cincinnati (Dev. Director and Asst. ED), Cincinnati Waldorf School (Administrator/Dev. Director) and Hill Top Research (Recruiting Ops. Mgr.) Pat has served on several nonprofit boards, as well, including American Heritage Girls (she was co-founder) and Interfaith Hospitality Network of NKY. She earned a B.S. degree in Management from Wilmington College. She is also a graduate of the Northern Kentucky Leadership Institute. Pat and her spouse Phil live in West Chester.

James R. Berry, PHR, is truly a life-long learner. Despite his two master’s degrees, James has completed course work in the last few years in topics as varied as web design, accounting, computer programming and grant writing. His career is as varied as his interests in learning. Most recently, James was an adjunct business instructor with Lincoln College of Technology. A licensed real estate agent, James spent five years with Coldwell Banker/West Shell prior to that. Previously, he served as executive director for Emanuel Community Center. James has served on the boards of Comprehensive Community Child Care and Victory Neighborhood Services. He is a member of both the Society for Human Resources Management and the Greater Cincinnati Human Resources Association. James earned his M.A. degree, Labor and Employee Relations, from the University of Cincinnati. He also earned an MBA degree from Xavier University and a B.S. degree in Marketing from the University of Cincinnati. James lives in Roselawn.

Joseph Lanzillotta retired in 2013 from Microdynaics Group as Senior Sales and Marketing Executive. Previously, he was Strategic Account Executive with Infotrieve. Prior to that, Joe was VP/Strategic Alliances and Business Development for DST Output. Earlier he held sales positions with Oracle Corporation and Cincom Systems. Joe's nonprofit service is a deep immersion into board leadership for St. Peter Clavers' Latin School for Boys. As Board Chair he supervises the two key leadership positions at the school – Headmaster and Director of Philanthropy. Joe also was Past President of West Point Parents. He earned a Masters in Public Administration and a Bachelor of Science degree in Political Science from the University of Cincinnati. He and his spouse Eileen live in Monfort Heights.

Dave Bazler's education and experience lies in operations and engineering management but organizational leadership, he says, has become his passion and the focus of his development efforts for the last 10 years. His experience is focused on both qualitative (customer satisfaction, team building) and quantitative (cost or time efficiencies.) His core competencies lie in analyzing, implementing and improving teamwork, job descriptions and computer systems, to name a few. For the past nine years, Dave held several management positions around the country with Ellison Surface Technologies. Previously, he was Operations Manager for a division of Emerson in northern Ohio. Dave earned a B.S. degree in Industrial and Systems Engineering from The Ohio State University. Dave and his spouse Claire live in Edgewood, KY.
