Professional History

- Procter & Gamble

Education

- B.S., Electrical Engineering, Purdue University

Bill is an engineer and strategic thinker. He recently retired with more than 30 years as an engineering professional, strategic planner and program manager at Procter & Gamble. He has a record of leading diverse teams to breakthrough results.

Bill applies his management skills and experiences to build healthy communities both locally and globally. He is currently a Board Member for Kennedy Heights Art Center and President of the Greater Cincinnati Professionals Chapter of Engineers without Borders. He led the successful design and installation of rainwater catchment systems in the Muhororo district of Rwanda, Africa, and was the engineering team leader for a EWB Project Team, overcoming the challenges of language, cultural differences, and material availability. As Boy Scout Advancement Chair for Dan Beard Council Troop 6, Bill guided six Boy Scouts to the rank of Eagle Scout. He is a former councilman and Vice Mayor for Amberley Village, Ohio, and as chairman of its long range planning committee, he led the creation of a village master plan.

ESCC Experience

Bill has completed ESCC's courses in project management, strategic thinking, board development, and coaching for change. He assisted with St. Rita School for the Deaf's strategic plan and has led the ESCC team in assisting the American Sign Museum in developing a strategic plan. He also has served as an EXCEL coach.
