Rod is an experienced senior manager who retired with more than 33 years' experience at E.I. DuPont. Rod's core competencies include project management, marketing, sales, and supply chain/logistics. As a certified Six Sigma Black Belt, he applied his expertise in businesses spanning the globe.

Rod is heavily involved in community activities. As a volunteer with the American Red Cross, he is active with its Mass Care on National Disasters along with being a certified instructor in Sheltering and Feeding. In the 2012 Tri-State tornado disaster, Rod led the Mass Care relief efforts overseeing all shelters, feeding, and bulk distribution. Rod is recognized as a National Weather spotter, a Clermont County poll worker, serves on the Miami Township Zoning Board of Appeals, and has been a coach for 47 sports teams.

ESCC Experience

Rod has successfully completed ESCC's training in strategic thinking, board development, coaching, and project management. As an ESCC volunteer, he led the efforts to develop a business plan for Talbert House's youth services division and the Armed Forces Ticket Association. He also was the project manager on several projects for Cincinnati Public Schools.
